CONFLICT RESOLUTION PROCESS OF THE ALLIANCE OF PAN AMERICAN ROUND TABLES

I. INTRODUCTION

A. OBJECTIVE:

To provide members with a methodical process for the prompt and equitable resolution of conflicts when disagreements or disputes have not been resolved.

B. INTENT:

It is that whenever feasible, the conflicts be resolved at the lowest administrative level.

C. The conflict resolution must never involve the whole Board.

II. MEMBER RIGHTS:

A. The best resolution of a conflict is to avoid that it happens in the first place.

1. For this, the Table members must know their rights, as they are stated in their Constitution and Bylaws and observe the Rules of Order during their business meetings (ascertain a quorum is present).

2. Know which votes require a majority, one half plus one.

3. Know the limits of the authority of its officers, who must make sure that their decisions are endorsed by the vote of the membership in a regular meeting; know that meetings called to exercise the member rights, such as elections, may not be cancelled, changed of location or postponed without agreement of the majority.

4. An informed membership could prevent the development of a situation conducive to a dispute, since the decisions that affect a Table are not decided by a few persons, but by a majority vote.

5. It must clearly be understood that when the majority has taken a determination, all the membership must accept the decision.

B. Likewise, those who hold a Board position (be it in a Table, National or State Association, or Alliance) must know their rights as well as their duties and the limits of their authority pursuant to the Constitution and Bylaws that govern each level.

1. The Officers sometimes have the opportunity to retaliate against the members and that is not acceptable.

2. The Constitution and Bylaws are clear and explicit with reference to adjudicating suspensions or expulsions within the context of a Table.

3. The Board of said Table may recommend taking said actions, but only the vote of the members can permit that they are carried out (and for this a majority is required).

C. National and State Associations may act against one of its Officers (for cause) or against a Table that has ceased to act according to its Charter, but may not act against an individual member. They may recommend that the Table in which that member belongs takes measures, but the decision rests with the vote of the Table to determine the fate of the member.

D. Officers at the National and State Associations or the Alliance may not accept the resignation of a member to its own Table, they can only accept the resignations of members of their own Boards.

III. RESOLUTION OF CONFLICTS PROCESS:

A. The Resolution of Conflicts Process aims to provide an orderly path toward reconciliation and regeneration of harmony, not a forum in which resentment is made public. The main objective is not to punish faults but to achieve to restore unity. But in case that behavior faults that cannot or do not want to be rectified, the Board of Final Disposition will take those measures that will be consistent for the benefit of the majority, within the framework of legality that is offered by the Constitution and Bylaws which govern us.

B. When there are problems that cannot be resolved by means of the use of the existing Constitution and Bylaws, those involved MUST give notice of their intent to use this Process of Resolution of Conflicts to the appropriate persons in each level and notify the Director General and the Alliance Parliamentarian in writing.

C. All the affected parties must abstain of using the Internet, emails or other means of communication for purposes of propaganda or complaints.

2. Specific allegations of violations of Robert’s Rules of Order or to the Constitution, infringing on the rights of the majority.
